

- Why - Purpose, cause, belief
 - To be an impactful mechanism which provides security and structure in business and peoples' lives, so that together we have the freedom and opportunities to focus on more meaningful and fulfilling life experiences.

Notes

- My why is and what I desire is freedom and security, but the reality is I'm sacrificing my own freedom and security to give it to other's first.
- What I realized is personally, I'm seeking security and freedom, but I'm consistently sacrificing my own security and freedom by taking on other's burdens, doing the tough work others can't do and creating value that others feed off of for their own security and freedom. Basically, I've been giving others what I'm seeking instead of giving it to myself.
- Subconsciously I'm delaying the gratification on my end to give it to others first, so when I'm ready, people will already be with me
- To provide security to others who desire it, but don't know how to achieve it so that they can be empowered to live more stress free lives and concentrate on the things that make them happy (i.e. freedom)
